Gulf Stream School (GSS), a Pre-Primary (one-year olds) to Grade 8 school of 300 students in Gulf Stream, Florida is seeking a full-time Learning Specialist for 2024-25. Interested candidates should contact Cathy Abrams, Assistant Head, cabrams@gulfstreamschool.org.

Job Description

- Report to the Director of Learning Services
- Advocate for children and families. Set the tone and an example for how teachers should view accommodations and provide them to students.
- Provide assistance directly to individual students and to small groups.
- Partner proactively with faculty and administration to support students with different learning styles, and with teachers in their efforts to advance students with different learning needs.
- Observe and evaluate individual students displaying academic or behavioral difficulties and assess their learning strengths and challenges.
- Participate in classroom instruction as needed.
- Develop student accommodation/learning plans with long-term goals and specific objectives. Ensure teachers are informed and are providing accommodations as they are described.
- As needed, provide written student-progress reports to the school and parents with assessment results and recommendations of diagnostic testing and remedial programs for learning-related issues.
- Maintain confidential student records and keep accurate documentation of sessions, meetings, and assessments.

- Initiate and schedule parent conferences as needed.
- Recommend in-school and community resources for identified students.
- Work closely with the School Counselor and outside professionals to support students.
- Coordinate and facilitate communication between student, family, school, and other involved professionals.
- Secure standardized testing accommodations for qualifying students.
- Network with learning specialists at other independent schools.
- Pursue professional development opportunities.
- Attend conferences and professional meetings in order to remain current with industry trends.
- Participate in committee, department, and staff meetings as well as school-sponsored events that would benefit from your area of expertise.
- Be involved in the school community at large.
- Assume responsibility for other projects as assigned by the Head of School.

Qualified candidates should have:

- Bachelor's degree in Special Education with a credential in Reading or in a related field; graduate degree preferred.
- In-depth knowledge in teaching, evaluating, and improving reading; experience working with children who have language-based disabilities (reading/writing/language).
- Several years of successful classroom teaching experience.
- Knowledge of learning disabilities, psycho-educational tests, reports, and assistive technology.
- Knowledge of administering and interpreting assessments and test results, academic achievement, and diagnostic testing.
- Full understanding of differentiated instructional strategies across the curriculum.
- Outstanding interpersonal and organizational skills.
- Exceptional written and oral communication skills.
- Strong networking skills to ensure access to resources in the broader community.
- Detail-oriented and resourceful.
- Tactful and discreet.
- Technologically savvy.
- High-energy and enthusiastic about working in an academic atmosphere.
